“ Momma I am so devastated I miss you so much my heart aches so bad wen I think about you,we always called each other early in the morning because we needed to hear each other's voices I will never be the same after this,you always bragged about me to our family and your friends and you always said how proud you were of me and I was so happy momma cause I just wanted you to be proud of me,you were my everything,now its hard for me to wake up and realize you are actually gone we always looked out for each other,you taught me so much I can't wait to see you ,touch you,and kiss you again,
