

Linda L Coyle

August 4, 1948 - January 19, 2026

Linda Lou Coyle, 77, of Indianapolis, Indiana, passed away on January 19, 2026, in Indianapolis. Linda was born on August 4, 1948, in Scottsville, Kentucky, to Bales Hardy and Dorothy Mae Hardy. From the beginning, she carried a quiet strength and a generous heart that defined her entire life. She was kind, loving, loyal, and deeply sacrificial—someone who always put others before herself. Linda was a fighter. She was sweet and gentle, yet strong-minded, and she would help anyone who needed it. She had a gift for making people feel seen and cared for, whether they were family, friends, or complete strangers. Everyone loved Grandma, and it was easy to see why—her heart and inner sunshine drew people to her naturally. What mattered most to Linda was knowing that everyone she loved was okay and doing what they enjoyed in life. She cared deeply about the well-being of others and found joy in seeing people happy and fulfilled. Linda loved walking—long walks where she could explore the city, meet people, and take in the world around her. She walked everywhere, and once she had her mind set on going somewhere, nothing could stop her. Each morning, she would get up and head out walking, often making her way to the Speedway Shopping Center. She also loved shopping, singing, dancing, and traveling, and she especially enjoyed spending time at Buffalo Wild Wings. These everyday routines and joyful moments are memories her family will cherish forever. Linda is survived by her husband, Robert Coyle; her daughters, Sherry Cline and Tammy Coyle; her grandchildren, Steve Coyle and Jasmine Coyle; and her brothers, Jim,

Paul, and Kenny Hardy. Above all, Linda will be remembered as a strong-minded, golden-hearted woman whose love reached far beyond her immediate circle. Complete strangers were drawn to her warmth and kindness. She was beautiful inside and out, and her love will continue to live on through the lives she touched.
