

Tamara Caprice Mann

April 10, 1973 - April 29, 2025

Tamara Caprice Mann was born on April 10th 1973 in Indianapolis, Indiana to the late Freida Ann (Harris) Al-Muhaymin and Robert “Buddy” Mann.

“Tammy” as she was commonly referred to by, was a woman of integrity and found her love for Christ at an early age and was baptized at Eastern Star Church.

As a child, Tamara attended IPS school # until she moved to McKeesport, PA and went on to graduate from McKeesport Area Senior High School with honors.

After Graduation, Tamara moved back to Indianapolis where she attended IUPUI and graduated with a bachelor’s degree in english.

Tamara was outgoing and touched the hearts of those she met with her loving and nurturing spirit. Tamara made an unforgettable impression on everyone she knew with her charismatic ways. Her humorous nature and wit would make anyone laugh in any given situation whether good or bad.

Tamara’s intelligence was striking, and she put her English degree to good use by articulating her words, thoughts and feelings in such an eloquent but direct manner.

Tammy loved listening to R&B and rap, ranging from artists such as New Edition and Bell Biv Devoe, to Slick Rick and Too Short. She also had a wide culinary taste and enjoyed dining at various restaurants around Indianapolis and McKeesport.

Tamara departed this life on April 29th, 2025 at the age of 52. She leaves to cherish her memory: son Mylan Mann, her best friend Anthony Sadler, sister Debbie Mann, brother Roland Mann, stepfather Khalil Ullah Al-Muhaymin, aunt Sharon Anderson, uncle James Harris (Karen), Cousins Brookie Morrison, LeTosha Anderson, Skyler Harris and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends.

“ Tammy was my childhood friend and we were affectionately called "Big Tam" and "Little Tam". She was intelligent, humorous, enjoyed life, and had an impeccable memory! I had the pleasure of talking to you a few days before your passing. I will miss you friend! Rest in paradise
